Seven Ingredients for a Tasteful Kitchen

1. Creative Design Assistance and Needs Analysis by Trained Professionals

A comprehensive approach by qualified experts assures a design that best satisfies all your wants and needs; it reduces the risk of having to make costly corrections at a later time. Adding creativity to this process makes your project totally unique and individualized to express your personal taste.

Don and Lee Anna O'Daniel, the owners of San Luis Kitchen Co., both graduated in architecture from Cal Poly in 1976 (Lee Anna receiving Highest Honors) and have since designed and built many custom homes and remodels; several of their projects have been published in magazines and nationally distributed brochures. Over the last 30 years, Don and Lee Anna have chosen to become kitchen specialists. Now that people are realizing how much time they spend in & around their kitchens, kitchens have become complex enough to warrant the need for a specialist. San Luis Kitchen meets that need.

Sarah Day has worked at San Luis Kitchen since 1998 in a multitude of capacities — from estimator & designer to office manager/receptionist. Sarah also graduated from Cal Poly (1994) with a degree in Landscape Architecture. As design principles remain the same for both exterior and interior applications, Sarah has found her niche in kitchen design.

Joe Morabito, Lee Anna & Don's son-in-law, joined San Luis Kitchen in Summer 2007. Joe enjoys on-going customer service and is talented in the technical aspects of design & installation. He is serving as our official photographer — getting those all important before & after shots.

2. Complete, Detailed Drawings So you can know Exactly what you are Buying

To help you in the initial design phase, we have found the computer to be a valuable tool: it allows us to look at many solutions and then allows you to view them in "3-D". This helps you make decisions about what will work best for you in your space. We then do detailed working drawings showing the special features you want incorporated into your cabinetry. As it is prior to materials purchasing, this step helps catch oversights, preventing costly errors and delays.

From traditional to contemporary, San Luis Kitchen has the experience and training to design the perfect, truly custom living space for you. Don't hesitate to give us a try!

3. Hands-On: Style, Finish & Color samples in our Showroom for Risk-Free Selection

We strive to show a wide variety of styles to help stimulate ideas for your project. At San Luis Kitchen, you are able to experience first-hand the quality of the various types of cabinet construction — in mid-range to high-end price points. We have over 100 different finish samples on various woods for your selection, or we can custom match a color for you. We can also do many different painted colors and laminates. Hand distressing packages are also available.

Another great advantage of having the showroom is that you can see many different special-use cabinets (different types of lazy susans, spice storage, recycling centers, pot & pan storage, pantry cabinets, etc.) and you can easily decide which features best suit your needs. You can know the quality before you buy.

4. Truly Custom,
Highest Quality,
Precision Built
by Traditional Craftsmen

Wood-Mode, founded in 1942, is America's leading maker of custom cabinetry ensuring you quality, craftsmanship, finishes & styling that any local cabinet maker would be hard pressed to match. Wood-Mode's best-selling custom-built cabinets are precision engineered with a luxurious hand-rubbed finish. Several generations of craftsmen work together at Wood-Mode to meet demanding standards for a superb value!

Like a custom-tailored jacket, our Wood-Mode cabinetry is made to fit you perfectly, in both measurement & style. A local contractor may also provide custom work, but there the similarity ends. Wood-Mode's process combines the best advantages of modern technology (including high-tech labor saving precision equipment) with traditional hand-craftsmanship to a degree that is unmatched in the cabinet industry. Operating a complete manufacturing process, from the lumber yards & drying kilns to the final exquisite hand-rubbed finish, Wood-Mode is unique . . . and the benefits are unexcelled quality, superior value & fine custom cabinetry that is built especially for you.

5. On Time with Quality,
No Hidden Charges

We know how important it is to be on time for your project to run smoothly and efficiently. Many people do not realize that a kitchen remodel involves as many trades as a whole house — all condensed into a relatively small space & short time frame. Years of experience building custom homes has given us the knowledge for quality control & for the "troubleshooting" required to expedite smoother installations with minimum inconvenience. Using San Luis Kitchen helps ensure that the final product is a cohesive one: that details are worked out ahead of time so that everyone's job runs well & you get to enjoy your new kitchen that much sooner!

We believe in being up-front about the cost — just ask us for a free estimate to start you out. Then we design & give you a final price quote, with complete detailed drawings, & we stick to it. Giving people what they want in terms of features, design & quality — on time and at the quoted price — has generated for us a long list of references — our satisfied customers. We hope that you, too, will join the hundreds of quality and value conscious homeowners who have chosen San Luis Kitchen Co. We take your job seriously & we aim to please.

6. Extremely Easy to Clean:
Inside & Out!

The finish of a Wood-Mode cabinet can best be compared to that found on the finest furniture. It's a finish that is satiny smooth to the touch & equally impressive to see. Using many hand-sandings before & during the finishing process, our finish brings out the natural beauty of the wood grain — be oak, maple, cherry or pine. More than that, however, the Wood-Mode finish is extraordinarily durable & resistant to stains because we use several coats of sealer & a catalytic conversion varnish which are baked on 5 times. The US Hardwoods Association classifies the Wood-Mode finish as a "Super-Finish". All you need to clean our Wood-Mode cabinets is a damp rag, or at most, a mild dish soap solution.

7. And Respect for the Environment

Wood-Mode has historically maintained a steadfast commitment to the pursuit of responsible environmental policies & practices. Wood-Mode has taken pride in producing the industry's highest quality cabinetry in a manner that demonstrates its genuine concern and care for the environment by using environmentally friendly materials and production processes. Wood-Mode is certified environmentally friendly in the areas of air quality, product resource management, process resource management, environmental stewardship, and community relations, as well as energy conservation and recycling programs.

The Final Result: A Kitchen You Will Enjoy for Years!

Kitchens have become important family gathering places — a place to start your day, have a friendly conversation with a neighbor, get together with your spouse and talk about how the day went at work, help your kids with homework. A good design that is functional and nice looking can minimize stress and enhance the quality of the time you spend in your home. Hiring us as your professional kitchen specialists, who can create a pleasant environment for you and your family, will ensure that your kitchen investment is a lasting one.
